

The Week of July 27, 2025

THE KISKI WEEKLY

From the Desk of Rev. Erin Kobs, Transitional General Presbyter

Friends,

I've had this saying in the office for the last few months - that we are heading into Kiski 2.0. The staff did laugh at the beginning, but it is true. We've been on quite a journey together & now, hope really is here. The future is bright for us as a presbytery & I'm really excited to see what God is going to continue to do in our midst.

We are actively preparing for our new Training Presbyter, Angela Cowser, to arrive. We're getting the offices put together. There is going to be a 'Paint the Presbyters' Offices' party coming up on Saturday, August 9th at 10:00am. We will provide all the supplies to paint both Angela's & my office, so we are looking for anyone willing to come join us! There will be pizza & drinks provided. It is not a huge job, so we think it can be done in just a couple of hours. If you are interested in helping out, call Cheryl at the office.

There are some additional needs for Angela's apartment. She will be living in Shelocta & there are some furniture items we are seeking for her:

- A queen or double size bed
- Dresser
- Two flat doors (indoor) & two sets of sawhorses - she will be using them as desks
- A bookcase

If you are able to help us out with any of these items, please call us at the office! Angela is arriving in person on August 14th, so we are hoping to have these moved into the apartment prior to her arrival.

I am looking forward to this next chapter together! I hope you are too.

Blessings,

Email Scam Alert

We have been alerted by several church administrators that there is an email scam making the rounds again.

They are asking for copies of your church directory. The email address being used is salvationandgrace222@gmail.com. It will say it is from your clerk of session.

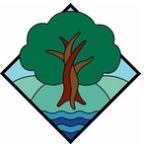

DO NOT EMAIL THEM BACK! This will cause emails to go out to your congregation & potentially they could be victims of scams for gift cards, money, etc.

PA Annual Report

Beginning in 2025, churches will need to complete an Annual Report with the state of Pennsylvania in order to maintain their non-profit status & tax-exempt status. Filing after June 30th, there will be a fee. Continued non-compliance could result in your church falling out of "good standing" or even administrative dissolution by the state.

- Churches need to update their contact information & report on who their corporate officers are for their "Corporation" (i.e. president, secretary & treasurer)
- The corporate officers must be properly elected by the session (unicameral board) or Trustees (bicameral board) & documented in your minutes. If your church has not elected officers recently, you need to begin the process & duly elect them before filing the Annual Report.

How do you update your information?

Workshop with Rev. Dr. Graham Standish

Saturday, October 11th, 9:00am to 2:00pm at Dayton Glade Run Presbyterian Church

Open to anyone in our Presbytery! Register Here!

We live in a world of too much information, conflicting beliefs, and changing values. Meanwhile the very places that ground us, our churches, are declining. How do we discover and do what God wants, especially if it may not be what we want? This retreat will give us the spiritual skills and perspectives to help us:

- Pay attention to God's presence so we experience God in our churches and life
- Listen for God's clear voice in a noisy culture, especially with out church's future
- Let go of what we want to follow what God wants for our churches and our lives
- Let go of fears, guilt, shame, doubts, control, and more so that we can do God's will above all in our lives and our churches.

Update from Syria & Lebanon Partnership

While we all hope and pray for a more just and peaceful Syria going forward, news from our sources tell us that fear and uncertainty seem to be on the rise under the new government known as the Syrian Arab Republic, whose dominant authority is the interim-president Ahmed al-Sharaa. With the new interim constitution in place, the interim president appears to carry full authority and there have been significant reactions continuing to come to the surface across the country.

With the five-year constitution in place, it is reported that the president, Al-Sharaa, has sole authority. In the rule of the country. There is neither a prime minister, nor any political parties. Al-Sharaa has appointed one-third of the parliament, while the remaining two-thirds have been appointed by a committee, subject to the approval of the president. Supreme court positions are all appointed also only with Al-Sharaa's consent. The interim constitution bears little resemblance to the United Nations Security Council Resolution 2254 (2017) which calls for a "credible, inclusive, and non-sectarian government" in Syria.

Many have told us that all the security forces are "dyed in the wool jihadists" which does not bode well for the minorities in the country. Christians seem to be in a better position than other religious minorities, as they are seen as "People of the Book" (a term which refers to other religions viewed by Islamic tradition as having received divine scriptures).

Clearances

- Mandated Reporter Training (Child Abuse Prevention) - all ministers, elders, deacons & volunteers who work with children. Certificates are good for 36 months.
- Boundary Training - all ministers & elders. Must be done every 36 months (according to the Book of Order)
- FBI Fingerprint Clearance - all ministers. Certificates are good for five years (in accordance with PA state law & Presbytery policy)
- PA State Police Clearance - all ministers & those who work directly with children. Clearance is good for five years (PA state law), but are highly recommended to be done every 3 years for protection of our churches.

We have seen many reports of Alawites and Druze, whom the group which overthrew the Assad regime (Hayat Tahrir al-Sham or HTS) sees as "heretics," being persecuted and even executed at random throughout their communities. The government has denied any responsibility for these killings and has pledged to investigate, but any genuine follow-up seems to be lacking. The demand for justice for all Syrians has gone unanswered and the report of the investigative committee, promised by July 7, has yet to be published.

In many quarters, the input we have received is that this government is seen as quite similar to the Assad regime, moving from one political extreme to another. The exception being that this system emerging has all the hallmarks of a theocratic state, with the jihadists in power. What is being presented to the world at-large is a façade that would allow the country to project a more respectable political image for the international community in the hope of having economic sanctions removed and attracting investment necessary to rebuild the country.

The feeling among most minorities is that there is no justice in the land with no courts in session and that vigilantism is on the rise. The Christian population has decreased from 10-15% before the war to somewhere between 2-5% currently. While approximately 100,000 Syrians have returned from Lebanon, the same number have fled to northern Lebanon to escape the threat of atrocities in Syria. We have been told that Islamic dress codes are being enforced in many parts, which require women to wear "burkinis" (nearly full-body coverage) at the beaches with men allowed swimwear while in the water but to “cover up” when they emerge. It seems widely known across social media (controlled by the Sunni majority that any group who is not Muslim is being referred to as “pigs.” It also seems that as much as 70% of Muslims in Syria are pro-Al-Sharaa and see his rule as good for the country.

Update from Syria & Lebanon Partnership - continued

The Alawite massacre, reported as 1,500 deaths in the coastal region back in March-April, is now being challenged by locals who are saying the number killed is closer to 5,000. The atrocities still have not been satisfactorily investigated by the government. We are being told the report of the committee looking into the attack of the Mar Elias Greek Orthodox Church in Damascus on June 23 has yet to publish a satisfactory report.

Nonetheless, our partners tell us it is still safe for churches to meet for worship and other activities. We have also learned of the government appointment of several experienced Christian men to fill high-level, significant roles in local government and business positions in Hama and Palmyra and that overall that these appointees are being treated with respect.

The situation in Suwayda, a mostly Druze community in the southern part of Syria, has deteriorated with the people there refusing to accept the interim constitution. After a series of deadly clashes between Druze fighters and Bedouin tribes killed dozens there since last Friday, the government has announced that a ceasefire has been agreed to after they deployed forces to stop the violence. Israeli Defense Forces subsequently bombed parts of Suwayda in support of the Druze, a community they consider allies.

Of late, we are told that banks in America are preparing for the expected loosening of sanctions by considering the reinstatement of the “swift code” which will enable US organizations, churches and NGOs to send funds and support into Syria without the restrictions that have been in place over the past decade. The United States government recently took the group which toppled the Assad regime (HTS) off the list of terrorist organizations. While our denomination believes broad sanctions cause widespread suffering and we have called for their lifting as a matter of humanitarian urgency, the United States government does not appear to be pressing for adherence to Security Council Resolution 2254 in return for lifting sanctions, thus defeating the justification of sanctions as bargaining chips.

We are asking you to read this update, not as “news” in the formal sense, but as a summation of what we are hearing from our partners on the ground in Syria and others we know to be credible and reliable sources for what is transpiring in the country currently. While there is a sense of foreboding about the direction the new government is taking, the bright spot is the hope of sanctions being lifted and for the possibility of funds flowing into Syria for reconstruction and basic life necessities. Please continue your prayers and advocacy for our brothers and sisters living in this very dangerous situation.
